Sunday July 21st - Pray for the persecuted

Christians in Tunisia are finding it harder to gather and worship the Lord together. The Tunisian government has banned Christians from meeting in hotels or other public gathering places without official pre-approval. Since the Arab Spring uprising, which began in Tunisia, the country has grown increasingly democratic, the Tunisian government became the first in North Africa to enact religious freedom reforms. The current government, however, seems to be reversing many of those policies.
